 OBU damage means both internal and external damage; any internal damage of the OBU representing a material damage of the OBU is considered to be the OBU liquidation. External damage of the OBU means: damaging of the OBU cover (especially the lock for fixing the OBU into the holder), damage and/or absence of the OBU battery cover, damage of buttons and optical indication of the OBU status and any damage of the OBU identification making its automated identification impossible.

 A legal claim for the contractual fine according to this item of the tariff of fees is assumed by a person authorised by the toll collection administrator in the case of any damage of the OBU accessories and in the case of failing to return any part of OBU accessories.
